Description

The International Criminal Court (ICC) is currently seeking highly motivated and qualified individuals to join our dynamic team in various positions for the Recruitment 2024/2025 cycle. As a vital component of the global pursuit of justice, the ICC plays a crucial role in investigating and prosecuting individuals responsible for the most serious crimes of international concern.

Responsibilities:

- Legal Analysis and Research: Conduct comprehensive legal analysis and research on international criminal law, human rights, and related fields.
- Case Management: Assist in the preparation, organization, and management of cases before the Court, collaborating with legal teams and external partners.
- Investigation Support: Provide support to investigators in gathering evidence, conducting interviews, and analyzing information relevant to ongoing investigations.
- Court Proceedings: Attend and assist in court proceedings, including hearings, trials, and deliberations, ensuring accurate documentation and procedural adherence.
- Legal Drafting: Prepare legal documents, briefs, and reports, contributing to the development of legal strategies and arguments.
- Collaboration: Collaborate with other ICC departments, as well as external stakeholders, including governments, NGOs, and international organizations.
- Training and Capacity Building: Participate in training programs and contribute to capacity-building initiatives within the organization and externally.

Qualifications:

- Educational Background:
 - Advanced degree in law, international law, or a related field.
 - Specialization in international criminal law is highly desirable.
- Experience:
 - Relevant professional experience in legal practice, international criminal law, or a related field.
 - Experience in international organizations or tribunals is an asset.
- Skills:
 - Strong legal research and analytical skills.
 - Excellent written and oral communication skills in English, with knowledge of other languages being advantageous.
- Personal Qualities:
 - Commitment to justice, human rights, and the rule of law.
 - Integrity, professionalism, and the ability to work effectively in a multicultural environment.
